SUMMER READING PROJECT PROPOSAL (BIRTH-14 YEAR OLDS)

Grant-funded summer reading projects strive to achieve the following outcomes:

- ✓ Youth maintain or improve their literacy skills over the summer.
- ✓ Youth demonstrate their love of reading and learning by choosing to engage in these activities during their free time.
- ✓ Adults enjoy spending time engaging in literacy activities with youth regularly to help them develop literacy skills.

1. Describe the grant-funded summer reading activities your library plans to implement to achieve these three outcomes.

Participating young readers will set a goal of how many books they will read, then complete that goal to earn a t-shirt. This will help that child thwart the 'brain-drain' that happens during a summer of no reading and helps that child maintain or improve their literacy skills over the summer.

The weekly summer reading programs offered by Newport Library are a time when children choose to visit the library, enjoy the programs and interact with staff as we engage them in conversations about the books they've read and learn about their world by participating in these activities.

The quality of summer programs offered by Newport Library attract many adults to attend them, sometimes without a child of their own. Many adults join the children in the weekly craft projects offered by the Library. The smiles on their faces as they spend quality time with their children while engaging in literacy activities show the enjoyment they are getting.

2. Do the activities you described above include outreach? Read the attached definitions sheet to find out what is considered outreach.

Yes

No

3. Do the activities you described above support a partnership project? Read the attached definitions sheet to find out what is considered a partnership.

Yes

No

4. What changes related to maintaining or improving literacy skills do you hope to see youth make as a result of participating in the activities you described above?

a. The biggest change we hope for is that they return to school in September with their reading skills as strong or stronger than they were in June.

b. In addition, we seek to instill an appreciation for libraries in our young readers and their families.

5. What changes related to developing a love of reading and learning do you hope to see school-age youth make as a result of participating in the activities you described above?

a. An ideal way to show that our children are developing a love of reading and learning is to see them continue to check out books and library materials after summer is over.

6. What changes related to engaging in literacy activities with their youth do you hope to see adults make as a result of participating in the activities you described above?

a. We hope that adults will continue to take an active role in their children's reading lives.

b. We also hope that those adults whose children and grandchildren have participated in summer reading programs have a positive mindset when they vote on levies for the Library.

7. Check the box next to one or more method you plan to use to evaluate whether or not youth and adults make the changes you hope to see. Read the back of the attached definitions sheet to learn more about these evaluation methods.
