MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF

As your Police Chief, it is both an honor and a privilege to serve our diverse and inclusive community. I am proud to present this Annual Report on behalf of the dedicated men and women of the Newport Police Department. The information contained within this report reflects our Police Department's mission and vision to serving and protecting our community. We hope you find our report informative and beneficial.

2023 proved to be an exciting time for the Police Department, as our staffing numbers began to show improvement over previous years. Across the country, every law enforcement agency has seen a steady increase in officers leaving the profession early and a significant decrease in applicants interested in becoming police officers. The Newport Police Department is no exception, and this year we continued to see a low number of applicants. While the numbers were low, our quality of applicants was great. Additionally, a backlog in available police academy slots brought further challenges as those we did hire were forced to wait several months to attend, further lengthening the time it takes to get an officer on the road. While we saw some setbacks in getting qualified applicants hired, trained, and on the road, we were able to adapt and succeed in hiring two entry level Police Officers and one lateral Police Officer.

Law Enforcement has evolved greatly over the years and 2023 was no different for us. Significant legislative updates continue to be seen. This year changes to the bail system resulted in many offenders being released from jail prior to their first court hearing. While our officers often had to deal with repeat offenders, I am proud of the determination of our staff to continue to do their job and protect our community.

We take pride in giving the Newport community a sense of safety, a feeling of belonging, and a voice that is heard. We are confident in our ability to build community trust and transparency. We will continue to meet the needs of our community through diversity, inclusion and promoting equity. I am confident that all Police Department staff are prepared, equipped and motivated to meet the needs of our community.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF

Newport continues to be one of the greatest places to live, work, play and visit. We are excited to see what 2024 brings and look forward to continual advancement of the Newport Police Department.

This will be my last Chief's Message as your Police Chief, as I plan to retire in 2024. I have been fortunate to rise through the ranks in what I consider one of the greatest cities in Oregon. Newport has offered me a very rewarding career and I am thankful for opportunities I have had in nearly 30 years of employment with the City. One of the reasons Newport is so great is because of City personnel. I would like to personally recognize and thank the members of the Newport Police Department for their hard work and dedication to serving the community with pride and professionalism. The men and women of the Newport Police Department have made my tenure as Chief exciting, rewarding and fulfilling. While I will miss all our staff, I am fortunate to not only lead an incredible Department, but have had the opportunity to make many lasting friendships. To the City of Newport and the Newport Police Department, thank you!

Jason Malloy, Chief of Police

ARRESTS

The Newport Police Department maintains records of demographics for all criminal arrests in an effort to maintain appropriate biased based policing practices.

Implemented to improve the overall quality of crime data collected by law enforcement, National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) captures details on each single crime incident—as well as on separate offenses within the same incident—including information on victims, known offenders, relationships between victims and offenders, arrestees, and property involved in crimes.

As recommended by professional law enforcement organizations, the FBI has made nationwide implementation of NIBRS a top priority because NIBRS can provide more useful statistics to promote constructive discussion, measured planning, and informed policing.

TRAFFIC

Traffic stops are considered temporary detentions under the law, which implicates Fourth Amendment protections against unreasonable searches and seizures. In order for law enforcement officers to pull someone over, they must have a reasonable suspicion of criminal activity or a traffic violation. One of the most common reasons for a traffic stop is when a police officer personally observes someone committing a traffic violation. No matter how insignificant the violation, it will justify a traffic stop. Reasonable suspicion, however, does not require an officer to actually observe a violation of the law.

The most frequent reason for a vehicle pullover is violation of the speed limit. Measurements of motorist speed throughout time have found many roadways where compliance with speed laws is very low, making many motorists liable to be pulled over at the discretion of law enforcement officers. Distracted driving also ranks high in the reason a driver may be stopped. Distracted driving includes using a cell phone, texting, emailing, grooming, and eating.

The law enforcement process is most likely to start with a patrol officer responding to a call for service or having a self-initiated call, such as a traffic stop or citizen contact. Because of its high visibility and frequent contact with the public, the Patrol Division is unlike any other division within the police department. In 2023, the Newport Police Department responded to 16,289 calls for service, an 8% increase over the previous year. This included officer-initiated calls and 1,989 traffic stops.

TOP 5 TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS IN 2023
Driving Suspended or Revoked	144
Driving Uninsured	101
Exceeding Speed Limit	71
No Operator's License	69
Fail to Obey Traffic Control Device	51

Patrol Officers issued 646 traffic citations, 638 parking citations, and 61 traffic warnings in 2023. The most common traffic citation issued by Newport Police Officers continues to be for the violation of Driving While Suspended or Revoked.

THE POLICE VEST

Why do cops always have their hands on or in their vest, you ask? How we, as police officers, stand can be very important, and yet it is oftentimes misunderstood by the public.

Do you ever wonder what to do with your hands when you're standing around? How do you get comfortable? Our uniformed police officers normally wear about 40 pounds of gear during their 12-hour shift. The placement of this gear leaves few comfortable options of where to put their hands.

Sgt. Mike Leake, Officer Emma Cullivan, and Tazz, the Chiweenie Russell.

There are four ways police officers stand because their duty belt is, well...just plain uncomfortable.

- The belt rest: Cops rest their arms on their belt because their equipment pushes their arms out, which feels extremely awkward.
- The pit tuck: This is when a cop uses the armpit opening of their bulletproof vest to hang their hands.
- The vest hang: A natural transition from the pit tuck, the vest hang is clasping the top of the vest near their collarbones to keep arms from hitting the equipment on the duty belt.
- The crossed arms: This can look intimidating, but cops use this stance solely for comfort. It's also a great way to warm up on a chilly day.

Sometimes, these stances can come across as intimidating, but that isn't the intent. We just want to find a little comfort while hauling around 40 pounds of equipment every day. So, the next time you see a cop, wave hello or offer a fist bump. You'll give us something natural to do with our hands, if even for a brief moment. Even K9s know the most comfortable position when wearing all that gear. Just ask Tazz. He's sitting pretty comfy.
